

Monolithic Power Systems (MPS) strongly opposes the use of our products in Russian military applications and the illicit diversion of its products to Russia. MPS stopped sales of our products to Russia and Belarus in February 2022. Any shipments of MPS products to Russia or use in Russian military applications are unauthorized.

MPS is committed to compliance with all applicable laws, including U.S. export controls and economic sanctions, and we require the same of our customers and distributors. We have implemented robust policies and procedures designed to prevent illegal diversion of our products, and we incorporate processes designed to ensure that MPS's products do not go to any restricted destinations, parties, or end-uses.

We are committed to continually refining and improving our compliance program and continuously work to ensure that MPS's products are not illegally diverted.
